PENINSULA SPORTS CLUB NIGHT

WITH

Karen Barefoot
ODU Women's Basketball Coach

FEBRUARY 15, 2012

BOO WILLIAMS COMPLEX

Look for more details to follow

NORFOLK...Karen Barefoot was named head coach of the Old Dominion women's basketball team June 2011.

Just 39, Barefoot has rebuilt three programs. She also served a three-year stint as an ODU assistant under Larry, from 2005-08.

Her Division I coaching record at Elon is 37-59, but she took the program to its first Division I postseason appearance this past season, earning an invitation to the Women's National Invitational Tournament with a 20-13 record.

"We'll just wait and see what happens," said rising ODU sophomore Shakeva Richards, who said she did not follow rumors about the coaching search. "I'll be excited. I'm always excited to play basketball."

Before joining Larry's staff, Barefoot coached four years at Division II Lenoir-Rhyne College (Hickory, N.C.), where her team won the school's first South Atlantic Conference regular season title, in 2003-04, and Barefoot was honored as league Coach of the Year.

Prior to her stint at Lenoir-Rhyne, she started the women's basketball program at The Apprentice School, where she coached six years, winning a National Small College Athletic Association national championship in 2001.

As a player, Barefoot starred at Menchville High School, then at Christopher Newport, where she was a three-time All-American. Her lead assistant at Elon, Marie Christian, is a former ODU player who also spent three years as an assistant coach with the Lady Monarchs.

While Barefoot won't have to rebuild from scratch at Old Dominion, the expectations for the new coach will be high.
